

ABSTRACT

A bandgap voltage reference is described which has reduced sensitivity to noise and amplifier offset. By configuring the circuitry such that the base
5 width of the component transistors is not varied on application of a bias, it is possible to obviate the Early effect.